ABOUT ME

With two decades of experience in the IT sector, my journey started in PC service, which eventually led me to find my niche in front-end development, especially with the Magento platform. As a dedicated and reliable front-end developer, I have collaborated with diverse Magento firms and remain eager to explore new project discussions. My career trajectory has spanned from modest agencies to large-scale enterprises, endowing me with extensive expertise that surpasses the boundaries of company scale. As an EU citizen based in Stockholm, I am enthusiastic about connecting with Swedish companies for prospective front-end development roles.
